Swope Park, with more than thirteen hundred acres, is the third largest in America, and contains acres of flower beds, stone rest houses, camping shelters, zoo, lodges and other buildings. There are lakes, broad stretches of woods, winding walks, and large expanses of meadow land, on which are the public golf links.

Dear Auntie Ethel

This is about the most perfect place to be. I never could have imagined such nice people here love everything I think.

Love
