WASHINGTON FOLDER

(1) Summary of any contact you or other agencies may have had with the inmate or members of his family.

None

(2) Inaccuracies and inconsistencies present in the enclosed unverified social history as revealed by your findings.

None

(3) Social, economic, and cultural level of the home and family. Good. This family has lived in luxury.

(4) Are there dependents who require economic assistance, and should the inmate be permitted to send them any money he may earn or have on deposit here?

No.

(5) Are the relatives and friends listed reputable and suitable as community contacts and correspondents of the inmate?

Yes

(6) Information regarding the inmate's social and industrial habits, behavior, social and family attitudes, sense of responsibility, and reputation in community. Good, except as to reputation on which the public is divided. Friends are fanatical in their devotion and enemies are equally fanatical in their prejudices. It is a subject on which it is almost impossible for people to be open minded.

(7) Personality and environmental factors which may have contributed toward the inmate's maladjustment and delinquency. Sporting instincts - betting on the races.

(8) Community to which subject is most closely attached through family connections length of residence, and previous employment. Kansas City, Mo.

(10) Emergent and immediate problems confronting the inmate and his family and suggestions as to their adjustment. None

(11) Separated as we are from the community, it is very difficult for us to gain insight into community and family conditions and, hence, to extend constructive rehabilitative service, unless we have outside aid. We, therefore, invite your cooperation in this connection and welcome your suggestions as to what the institution can do to effect the social re-adjustment of the inmate and his family in the community. We have no suggestions to offer.

(12) Any other revealing social data or comments regarding the inmate and his family. None
