

Kansas City Gets Early Start in What Promises to Be Heaviest General Election Vote in Many Years

CHILLY ELECTION DAY—Party workers of the nineteenth precinct of the Eighth ward are shown around a wood fire at 6011 Oak street, which they found necessary to build to keep warm while pursuing their duties on election day. They are (left to right) George Fischback, 5937 Holmes street; Mrs. Ethel Wilcox, 709 East Sixtieth street; Kenneth Prater, 4340 Warwick boulevard, and Owen L. Gilchrist, sr., 609 Cherry street. —Journal-Post Photo.

CANDLE LIGHT IN BOOTHS— Some of the election booths in Kansas City, Kas., were so dark, surrounded as they were with canvas, that candles were installed to enable voters to see the names of the candidates they were voting for. Mrs. Marie Griggs, 512 Minnesota avenue, here is shown casting her ballot by candle light in a booth at the city hall. —Journal-Post Photo.

LONGS FOR HEART THROB— Rex, 3 years old, is shown here with his master, Frank Macklin, 1110 Pennsylvania avenue, with whom he was reunited Monday after spending several days in a serum plant. Two men were arrested in connection with Rex's disappearance last Thursday. Rex was stolen when he left his home for an evening rendezvous with his friend, Lady, a stray dog which roams near the Macklin home. Lady still is a prisoner in the serum laboratory.

CASTS ABSENTEE BALLOT— Mrs. Mae Meehan of Denver (above) prepared her absentee ballot in the office of the election commissioners in the courthouse Tuesday. It was forwarded to Denver. She voted the Democratic ticket.

VOTERS STAND IN LINE—The extremely heavy early vote Tuesday morning caused voters to stand in line awaiting their turn at many polling places over the city. Above is the line at the thirty-third precinct of the Eighth ward at 115 West Gregory boulevard. Many voters had to wait in line more than half an hour for their turns. —Journal-Post Photo.

WORKERS AND VOTERS— Above is an early morning scene in Tuesday's election at the voting place of the nineteenth precinct of the Seventh ward, showing challengers, voters, judges and clerks. The voting place is in the Bartleston apartments, 410 West Forty-seventh street.

COURT ORDER VOTES—Above is a scene in the circuit court room of Judge Darius A. Brown Tuesday where many unregistered persons made application for court orders to permit them to vote. By the time Judge Brown, shown in the high-backed chair in the center background, recessed for lunch, he had granted 149 vote orders.
