VIOLATION OF INSTITUTIONAL RULES :

(104333) This morning about 10;45 AM while on duty in the Commissary sale room, this subject ordered and paid for five packs of cigarettes. A few minutes later he reappeared at the window and said that I had overcharged him 10¢ for the second straight day. I replied that I would check the coupons and reimburse him if there was an overcharge. He then asked why he couldn't have the coupon back. I told him that the rules of the institution prevented that. He then restated in an angry voice that he didnt give a damm about the dime but he had been overcharged for the second straight day. I told him to quiet down and talk to me in a courteous manner. He maintained that he had been courteous. I then told him that if he continued to be loud I would have to report him. He replied "Go ahead, Ill take a shot, I can explain my position to the Deputy". After careful checking of the coupons in the drawer I could find no overcharge whatever MAURICE H. SIGLER, Junior Officer.

DISPOSITION : To forfeit commissary privileges for one month.
C. J. SHUTTLEWORTH, Associate Warden.
