Major Lloyd Stark,
Louisiana, Missouri.

Dear Major:-

Your letter sounded most hopeful and I really think you should come up to our meeting. I have mentioned to no one the fact that I have written you, so not even my very best Democratic editors and other friends know of the fact. I think you would enjoy it and I know we would like mighty well to have you.

While you did not mention the fact, I want you to remember that Mrs. Stark was included in the invitation, so both of you come if you can.

I'm glad things look so good and poor politician that I am, I can't for the life of me see how you could lose, even though they used machine guns and kept Democratic voters away from the polls. That's the sentiment up here, even among Republicans. Good luck, Major.

Sincerely,

Jack Stapleton
