Mr. LLOYD STARK

Louisiana, Mo.

Dear Sir:

The associated press quotes you as stating you will favor O'Malley if you are elected.

If that be your attitude just how can you reconcile your act with decency?

What has become of 80% of the impounded insurance money. Who paid this vast sum.
In whose name was the suit to recover the excess premium paid brought in.

Who employed the Agents to collect the premium. Is there any evidence that they were to be paid for that service by the insured?

How can Mr. O'Malley conceive that he has the authority to adjudicate any matter for any policy holder and arbitrarily say what that policy holder shall receive? Only by consent of Tom Pendergast can he be ordained the last Court of Appeal.

Perhaps he may have assumed the same Public Be Damned policy that seems to have been adopted by you in your business set up.

For instance I ordered and paid for 8 apple and three cherry trees from your salesman some three or four years since.

They came all the tags tied to one tree. The Cherry trees which were supposed to be above 5 ft. were in fact nothing more than switch size. ___ of them without sufficient roots to grow died. One apple tree was labeled Richmond Cherry.

This fact was promptly brought to your attention on two separate occasions and I was at last informed that there was no record of my order. Strange it is that I got the trees shipped by you to Pomona, Mo. and you had no record of the transaction even after I had sent you the duplicate of the order.

One might assume that you had the same system as is employed in banks. "No correction made when you leave the window" or when the shipment leaves your hands.

I'm not asking any nor do I expect any reclamation. Neither do I propose to place myself in jeopardy by being a party to your election.

You may have gained a little at my expense but since deception has never won a lasting success your profit will and has been a loss to you.

Remember when his Royal Nibs returns he will find such destruction in Headquarters as will overtax the resources of the Scavenger Department to cart it away. Corruption has at last reached the point where indignation challenges it. We await the outcome with growing confidence.

I am Sir
(Signed)

Paul A Marye
