Dear Honey & Baby:

This day has been successful. I have a letter from you, have been horseback riding, watched the Battery fire nine problems, had an hour swim, a good meal and am tired as I can be without any headache. I am certainly glad you and Marg are resting in my absence. We'll have to arrange it so you can keep it up. I never need any breakfast and if that would keep you from having any more indigestion, for goodness sake let's do it. I'm glad Mrs. Ott is satisfied with the court. I am too. I see the said court is functioning. The Star said they had ordered Koehler to pave Fairmount Ave. Had a letter from Vrooman saying the court was not taking any chances on anything but holding all doubtful matters for my return.

I called on the old general out here and asked him to our party next Friday. It's to be a badger fight, so ladies can't come. Eddie McKim is waiting to take this to Junktown so I'll have to make it another note. Be sure and keep writing. Kiss the baby for your
