My Dear Sweethearts:

Got your letter today and you can tell Miss Margie that I have not fired the big cannons yet. I will fire them next Tuesday, and if she stays I'll show her how to do it.

I am sure glad you are coming down, and I am also sure you'll have a good time. The sun shone down on us today but there is a fine, cool breeze now and there has been a necessity for cover every night even on the hottest days. Please bring my "Anthony" salve. I have a tender place on my saddle connection. Kiss my girl and don't fail to come down. Love to you both
Harry
