Dear Bess:-

Well this is Friday again and we are still in session. It will take all day and I think most of tomorrow to get done. The appropriations committee had its last meeting this morning on the 3rd deficiency bill. I guess if we'd stay another month we'd have another one. I'm glad it's cool out there. It is very pleasant here today. The wind is in the north and I have on a blue suit and it is comfortable.

Duke Shoop was talking to me and he thought Colorado would be a good place so he just sent us out there. We can consider it anyway. It won't take us long to start and we'll arrive somewhere. It looks like I won't get away until Monday. Pendergast wants to see me and Clark and I'm of the opinion that everything will be settled when we see him. Wouldn't the papers give something to know that? We'll leave here tomorrow for N.Y. and get back Sunday afternoon. If I catch an early train will probably start from here Sunday afternoon for home. Should get there Tuesday sometime and then we'll leave for somewhere - Colorado if you want it or any other direction except St. Louis.

I have been exceedingly tired the last few days trying to listen to and read everything. I bet I can sleep a week when I get away. Hope everybody is well. Kiss Margey. Love to you Harry.

[P.S.]

I'm thinking special delivery as I go to mail this.
